- the child's development
- education and employment/job
- parenthood
- partnership
- separation and divorce

in crisis and psychological stress such as

- depression
- psychosomatic conditions
- anxieties
- academic failure/ school phobia
- identity crisis
- crisis in a relationship
- isolation
- trauma
- migration experience

How do we provide help?

You can call us via phone or check in personally.

We will make an appointment, scheduled shortly after, for a first meeting with one of our professionals. There we will discuss your matters and our options to help.

Sometimes one counselling session is already enough. Often though, for a clearing of all questions and problems and for search of a common solution, more time is necessary.

If needed, a counselling can be held in English, Hebrew, Italian, Portuguese, Spanish or in German, Sign Language.

What do we offer?

- one on one counselling
- youth counselling
- parent counselling
- family counselling
- parent groups
- children and youth psychotherapy
- psychological diagnostics
- socio-pedagogical children and youth groups
- special educational treatments
- supervision

Confidentiality Voluntariness Costs

Our counselling takes place on a voluntary basis and is free of charge for you.

We are bound to confidentiality.

All counselling sessions are confidential.

No other people or institutions, such as schools, child protective services, public and administrative authorities, will come to know any of it. In case dialogue with these institutions should make sense, we will engage in it only with your explicit agreement. Also an anonymous counselling is possible.

Who is counselling?

Our team consists of professionals with training as:

- psychological psychotherapists
- child and youth psychotherapists
- family therapists
- sociologists
- psychoanalysts
- social pedagogues/ social education workers
- physicians

Members of our team work in close cooperation with each other to provide you with the best care possible. Concerning scientific questions, a cooperation with the Sigmund-Freud-Institute is at hand.
